FROM YOUR PASTOR'S DESK

A priest was forced, by a traffic police, to pull over for speeding. As the cop was about to write the ticket, the priest said to him, "Blessed are the merciful, for they shall obtain mercy." The cop handed the priest the ticket, and said, "Go, and sin no more."

The readings for this Sunday are about mercy, trust and the forgiveness of sins. The opening prayer addresses the Father as "God of Mercy." In the Psalm we repeat several times, "His mercy endures forever." "Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good; for His mercy endures forever!" (Ps 118). Besides mentioning the word, our readings illustrate mercy in action. How does God reveal His mercy? He does so, first and foremost, by sending His only-begotten Son, to become our Savior and Lord by his suffering, death and resurrection. Divine mercy is given to us in each celebration of the sacraments. The first reading explains how the Risen Lord continued to show his divine mercy to the sick through the healing and preaching ministry of his apostles in the early Church. The Apostles' faith enabled them to minister the Lord's healing love through "signs and wonders." The Book of Revelation was written to comfort and bolster the faith of the persecuted Christians by reassuring them of the presence of the merciful Lord in their lives. The second reading, taken from this book encourages Christians to fight fear with faith, and trepidation about the future with trust and hope. In today's gospel, as we recall Jesus' appearance to the disciples on that first Easter evening, we are vividly reminded of the Sacrament of Reconciliation – the power to forgive sins which Our Lord gave to his apostles. "Whose sins you forgive are forgiven them, and whose sins you retain are retained" (Jn 20-23). Today's gospel also emphasizes the importance of faith in the all-pervading presence of the Risen Lord of mercy. To believe without having seen is every later Christian's experience. We are invited to receive liberation from doubts and hesitation by surrendering our lives to the risen Lord of mercy. Let us ask God our Father to open our hearts so that we may receive his Mercy in the form of His Holy Spirit.

One way the Church celebrates God's mercy throughout the year is through the Sacrament of Reconciliation. Finding time for Adoration of the Blessed Sacrament is another good way to receive Divine Mercy. The gospel command, "Be merciful, just as your Father is merciful," demands that we show mercy to our fellow human beings always and everywhere. We radiate God's mercy to others by our actions, our words, and our prayers. It is mainly through the corporal and spiritual works of mercy that we practice mercy in our daily lives and become eligible for God's merciful judgment.

"Every believer in this world must become a spark of Christ's light. Some of the best ways are Mercy and Kindness"
- Pope John XXIII

CALLED TO BE WITNESSES

Thomas probably would be a good man to have in your corner in a modern-day courtroom. Even though he was willing to follow Jesus to death (John 11:16), he’s not going to go out into the world now and attempt to give witness to the risen Christ when all he has at his disposal is hearsay evidence from the other apostles. No, he wants immediate evidence, a hands-on experience of Christ risen and present. The risen Christ ultimately provides Thomas with the experience and evidence he needs.

Many of us, when we struggle with our faith or our belief, can identify with Thomas. But even when our faith is in relatively solid shape, we encounter people who are a bit like Thomas, who won’t believe unless they are given credible experience of the risen Christ. We, then, are called to be witnesses. Like Christ, we cannot be ashamed to show the woundedness of the Body of Christ, the Church. We must even allow others to probe and examine the wounds. But we must also greet them with “Peace” and know that, in the glorious everlasting life of Christ risen from the dead, our wounds are not our final destiny. Our final joy is life transformed for eternity.

HELPING YOUR NEIGHBOR ~ If you truly want to help the soul of your neighbor, you should approach God first with all your heart. Ask God simply to fill you with charity . . . with it you can accomplish what you desire.

—St. Vincent Ferrer

BELIEVING WITHOUT SEEING

“Doubting Thomas” in today’s Gospel won’t believe unless he can see and touch Jesus’ wounds. How often do we believe only with our bodily senses? Science tests, theorizes and proves based on what is observable in the universe. It has a place in our lives, but it cannot uncover things beyond the physical senses. It cannot define or measure love, yet without love and care people suffer and die. We are meant to live with and love one another. Thinking we can rely on ourselves and our own efforts to live the good life is an old heresy. Among the saddest news stories today are those of people who die alone for want of anyone to help. It is true that living with others is a messy business. In the communities of our ancestors the neighbors knew you and your family as well as your sins and failings—and you knew theirs. Yet you had companionship and, in hard times, someone to help out. So, believe in the resurrection, not as a check mark against some list of beliefs, but to change how you live.
